

UTILISAVE SAVES CLIENT $110,000
IN LESS THAN 30 DAYS

CLIENT PROFILE & ENGAGEMENT

Our client, a property management company located in New York, prides themselves on their effective management of their building’s operations. They are focused on improving efficiency and increasing property value while being financially prudent. Recently, one of their properties was presented with a huge catch-up bill for consumption that wasn’t in-line with the historical billing for that property. In addition, the utility company threatened to cut off services because of a large unpaid bill totaling over $150,000.

THE IMPORTANCE OF SHARING ALL UTILITY ISSUES

When the client received the turn-off notification, they had already spent several months attempting to resolve the issue on their own. They were now up against a tight clock since the utility intended on shutting down service within a week. Disruption of service was an unacceptable outcome for our client. The utility company was being very aggressive in their attempt to collect the sum and was not very forthcoming in responding to the client’s request for historical information.

At a meeting with UtiliSave, the client mentioned the issue in passing. UtiliSave asked to investigate the matter for the client. UtiliSave went into action and immediately reached out to the utility to open a case. UtiliSave halted the disruption of service threat and began to examine the details of the matter. In less than 30 days, UtiliSave succeeded in getting the bill reduced by more than $110,000 and is presently working on a further reduction.

SHARING INFORMATION DRIVES GREAT RESULTS

The client was so frustrated by the utility company that they were ready to accept the billing charge and pay the $150,000 bill. But due to UtiliSave’s swift action and tenacity, the utility adjusted the account, resulting in a saving of $110,000 for the client with no disruption of service.
